Nutritional Counseling - 7th Edition

Lesson 11 Test Questions

Question 1
_____ has been defined as “any set of learning experiences designed to facilitate the voluntary adoption of eating and other nutrition-related behaviours conducive to health and well-being.”
A. Nutrition education
B. Nutrition counselling
C. Nutrition culture
D. Nutrition behaviour

Question 2
Nutrition professionals work to
A. increase knowledge.
B. influence motivations.
C. guide development of skills required for dietary behaviour change.
D. All of the above

Question 3
Those with _____ are more likely to have better quality diets and lose more weight in weight loss programs.
A. more money
B. higher levels of knowledge
C. strong willpower
D. All of the above

Question 4
Consumers are more likely to respond to healthful food messages if the advice stresses
A. the good taste of wholesome foods.
B. convenient ways to include wholesome foods in the diet.
C. the low cost of wholesome foods.
D. All of the above
E. A and B

Question 5
A counsellor’s personality
A. is one of the principle tools of the helping process.
B. plays a minor role in the helping process.
C. is not relevant to the helping process.

Question 6
People from all cultures appreciate a friendly, open health care professional.
A. True

alive ACADEMY

B. False

Question 7
"Culture" is the shared history of _____ groups.
A. racial
B. gender
C. religious
D. occupational
E. Any of the above

Question 8
The characteristics of a cultural group
A. apply to all people within that group.
B. are generalities that may or may not apply to individuals within that group.

Question 9
Promoting self-sufficiency is always a main goal of nutrition counselling.
A. True
B. False

Question 10
What is the focus of the first phase of the counselling process?
A. Helping clients identify specific behaviours to alter
B. B. Designing realistic behavior change strategies
C. C. Learning about the nature of the problem from the client's viewpoint
D. D. All of the above